INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE

The conference aims to explore the multifaceted dimensions of heritage capitalisation, and how it intersects with the challenges of our time: environmental protection, energy crises, food crisis or digital transformations. In a world marked by rapid change and evolving complexities, heritage capitalization stands as a bridge between the past and the future.

Our goal is to foster debates, inspire collaborations, and boost the understanding of how heritage can drive sustainable development.

The conference serves as a platform for scholars, experts, policymakers, and practitioners to exchange ideas and experiences related to the preservation and utilization of cultural heritage, considering the various factors influencing this area. It aims to promote interdisciplinary collaboration and provide valuable insights into the multifaceted nature of heritage in the modern world.

The conference explores innovative approaches and technologies for the conservation and promotion of cultural heritage. It includes discussions on the use of virtual reality, augmented reality, and other digital tools. Additionally, the conference focuses on the development of online museums, the use of digital platforms to engage the public with cultural heritage, the impact of environmental factors on cultural heritage, and sustainable practices for heritage preservation and development.

The conference encourages interdisciplinary collaboration, bringing together experts from fields such as archaeology, history, architecture, technology, environmental science, and social sciences to promote holistic approaches to heritage preservation, utilization, and development. Given the international nature of the conference, it provides a platform for comparing and contrasting heritage challenges and solutions from different
